In crossing a bridge the wagon was upsat and Mr. a bridge the wagon was upset and Mr Cook had a leg broken, while Mr. Beaver was seriously injured.

THE TOWN Seems to be overrun with sneak-thieves and burglars at present, judging from the number of robberies that have been reported of late. Early yesterday morning the tailor shop of Hall & Larsen at 174 W. South Tem-ple Street, was broken into and two full suits of clothes, besides other arti-cles of wearing apparel, stolen.

MANAGER SCARFF is thoroughly disgusted with the imported ball tossers, and there will be no moregames for the present. Mr. Scarff is in correspondence with several teams, however, and it is likely that some interesting contests will take place on the diamond before the season is over. Just what the "great imported" will do is not known. gusted with the imported ball tossers. no: known.

A SPECTACLE which divided the attention of the audience with the stage at the theatre hast evening was two waholes in a stall in the first circle, who, with their number thirteens thrust out on the cursion of the circle, ogled in a stall in the circle, or the circle in the boisterons manner with a couple of dizzy femsles in the stall directly oppo-site. It was amusing at first, but after a time it became disgusting enough to warrant the interference of the nuisance inspector.

Fatality at Casis.

In general the calebration of the Fourth in this vicinity was a complete success-the inhabitants of Oasis. Wyno-Ingersoll and Deseret joined hands and forces, irrespective of religious or political differences, and doing honor to the day of our national birth. But a sad accident which occurred at the schoolaccident which occurred at the school-house and bowery at the latter place, marred the event. At about noon of that day, Moroni Bennett, a young man 16 years old, while riding on a horse behind another young man, was thrown off, receiving several bruses about the head. It was at first thought would recover, for the extent of his internal injuries were not known. Dr. Miner, of Nephi, was duly summened, and a though all was done that medical skill could surgest, the patient passed away during the evening of the 8th and was buried at 10 o'clock this moraing. Decrased was a bright and promising son of Joshua and Isabel Bennett, who have the heartfelt sympathy of a wide circle of friends. Oasis, Millard County, July 10, 1838.

Why did not The Herald publish the statements? A reporter of this paper could no more have obtained a copy of the "private statement" than he could appoint Ben Harrison President. The documents were, as before stated, no part of the court record, and was paid in to the Receiver, for property fraudulently transferred March 2, fraudulently transferred March 2, 1887," we have it upon truthful authority that that is a falsehood of the rankest kind. The fact of taking re-ceipts of sales confirms them. Had they been fraudulent, it was the Receiver clear duty to set them aside, as the property is now worth double what it was sold for.

The sheep story is a verifable instance of 'all cry and no wool.' As to what the remarkable rot in the down-town paper says concerning the mutton transaction, the church agents state positively, that the information that "during the morning hours (of Tuesday) a demand was made for 30 000 sheep alleged to have been trans-ferred March 2, 1887," is all wrong. The sheep were tendered to Mr. Dver. off-rmade to deliver them ten days ago and that there was no kick made at all nor was there any resistance made to the turning over to him of the cattle men-tioned Butif Mr. Reclever claims there were $75 000, or anything like that amount in value, it is an astonishing revelation to the gentlemen acting for reveignon to the gentlemen acting for the church people.

Again, the flagrant and palpable misstatement that the Receiver, on Tuesday evening, made another raid for $27,000 worth of notes, is in keeping with the rest of the three fourths of a column of allow. slush. The notes spoken of were ten-dered Mr. Dyer some weeks since and they do not transfer to him any rights in the Theatre, as in-dictated in the report of the gentleman to his organ.

As for his "dive" for telegraph stock possibly the Receiver may call it a "dive," but the stock mentioned was all conceded as being properly incorporated in the compromise, which the Supreme Court affirmed on Monday, since which there has been no Lew mat-ter introduced in the business whatever, the lying article, which states that the foregoing transactions were made or Tuesday, to the contrary notwithstanding.

So glaring and untruthful is the re-port throughout, that it is almost in-credible that the Receiver, who has bitherto maintained a straightforward and dutiful course in his actions in the suits and dealings with the gentlem-n representing the defendant corporation, has willfully misrepresented the matter, and induces the belief that the report has been garbled in order to exhibit an 'enormous aggregate" to satisfy the h wling horde who has been calling for a showing and who would not have been satisfied with a poorer one.

I arrived here on the 29th of June, put up in good quarters at the corner of Fifty-fourth Street, on Broadway, about thirty minutes ride on the elevated railroad from the office I now eccupy, by the courtesy of J. W. Young, at 57 Broadway. It is a fine office, with every convenience, and in the centre of the business portion of the city. I advise our friends from Utah to call at 57 Broadway.

New York City is a great place. There is not land sufficient for people to travel on, so they have built elevated railroads up in the air, over the streets and in some places over the houses. An average of 500,000 people ride on these and laughed to themselves at the showing mads in so apparently plausiole a manner. But the other portion of the citizens have taken the dose with an allowance for the source, a few grains of seasoning, in the shape of common same and in meaning. no th and back for 10 cents, seeing the of common sense, and, in many instances, with positive disbellef.

The concern probably thought he publication was a smart move, and constituted what it cho see to term a "scoop," but when the ways that are dark and tricks that are vain are exdark and t "scoop," but when the ways that are dark and tricks that are vain are explained and understood, the intelligent public will readily see that the affair was a miscrable, under handed, scurvy piece of business.

The first statement, in the heading, "Demands made yesterds; (Tuesday) and agreements to turn over, is a false and misleading one. The damands were made pricy to the sitting of the supreme Court on Monday, and the agreements all settled and confirmed by the judges on that day. What occurred on Tuesday was outside the court and its records, and was in no sense official or reliable.

The fact of the matter is this: The testing to the constant the borse, and they are not the constant of the public. The fact of the matter is this: The fact of the matter is this: The the notes, postonice and other public buildings, and I have come to the conclusion that the great portion of the people's main study was how to plan those buildings so as to spend the most money in their eraction.
